

Dear
Family,

How are you all doing? I just wanted to give you another update from guide dog college. Since being back from our second spring break, I have been working hard keeping up with my studies. I took a test on traffic safety. My instructor said I did very well keeping us both safe. With the weather being warmer, we got to go to the beach! Ventura was a lot of fun! There were new sights and smells, but I worked hard to stay focused. My instructor said we will work there again. Who can say no to the beach?! Not this guy. I heard we will, also, learn how to travel on the metro. I can't wait for that!

We had a new freshman class come in recently. We are showing them the rules and how to behave in college. Days off are fun too during the summer. We have pool parties and yummy parfaits. Well, got to get back to studying. Miss you, but still having a good time.
