

Dear Family,

How are you doing? I know it has been a while since I last wrote to you, but I am still working hard and keeping up with my studies. I have another exam coming up soon and have been doing my best to stay focused so that I can ace this test. Traveling around the different towns with my instructor has been fun and adventurous too! My instructor says I have been doing a good job keeping her safe. I even worked with different instructors to work on keeping them safe too!

Did you hear that our dorms got a facelift? It looks nice and I got a little extra space too in my room! We have some new freshmen too. They are new to dorm life and can get a little rowdy, but we are helping them adjust. I remember those days of being new to college life. Miss you but continuing to do my best!

Wags & kisses
